

HUMAN RESOURCES

HR (human resources) traditionally deals with health and safety, workplace policies, employment law, payrolls and holidays, as well as the hiring process and staff departures. Good strategic HR management is about looking at an organisation and whether it has the right resources, at the right capacity, doing the right jobs.

That also incorporates recruitment, learning development strategies and it also includes performance management.

SKILLS NEEDED

- Approachable
- Problem Solving
- Communication
- Empathy
- Organisation
- Negotiating

HOURS

HR and recruitment is generally a 9 to 5 type job area, but the option of self employment with the latter brings flexibility. Salary is based on your experience and skill level, where you work and who you work with.

SALARY

The average HR salary in the UK is £25,000. Managers and more experienced can earn £40,000 to £60,000 or beyond, but bear in mind these figures are averages for general HR roles, and are not esports-specific.